As a company and as individuals we are all part of many worlds. At home, we are members of a family. At work, we are members of a team. Outside our doors, we are members of a community, part of a city, a state, and a country. As a company, we are corporate citizens.

And of equal importance, we are all citizens of the planet.

Making sure that all these worlds maintain strength, harmony, and viability is the essence of sustainability. Here at Amerant, we are undertaking to do our part and help make this vision a reality.

In 2021, we launched our environmental, social responsibility, and governance program and have worked to determine opportunities to make a positive impact on sustainability in the short term and over the long haul. How? We asked our most valued stakeholders. Amerant’s customers, team members, investors, community leaders, and others all shared their viewpoints. We conducted surveys. We analyzed our operations. Getting all of these different perspectives helped guide and focus our ESG priorities.

One thing we all agreed upon upfront – we needed to do this right. ESG needs to be a way of life for us to truly be effective. It’s not a checklist or simply a report we do once a year. It is about doing the right thing and having it become part of who we are, how we conduct business, how we make critical decisions – in short, it has to become part of our DNA.

With this internal and external input and overarching guiding principle, we have focused our efforts in five key areas, or pillars, to help us establish priorities for our framework and define our path forward.

This report tells the story of this process and, more importantly, dives into each pillar to describe aspirational goals and earthbound measurements to gauge our progress along the way. And also our progress to date. After all, this is a journey, and something that will continuously evolve over time. We are excited to be on this journey and look forward to providing updates along the way.

Amerant is proud to have earned a leadership position in the markets we serve, through the services we deliver, the financial solutions we provide, and the customer experiences we create.

Now, with an all-embracing approach to sustainability, our customers, investors, peers, neighbors, colleagues, and all we serve will see Amerant striving to do our part for brighter futures and more vibrant communities to help all of our shared worlds thrive.

A Message from Jerry Plush

Welcome to our future

Amerant strives to be a leader in the markets we serve. Being a leader comes with responsibility. That’s why, as a company, we are proud to “do the right thing.”

To this end, we have formalized our environmental, social, and governance (ESG) framework to identify opportunities that can make a positive impact through our operations, products, and services – everything we do. We did extensive research and heard ideas from a diverse group of stakeholders who shared their perspectives with us. With this information, we established priorities and set specific goals that will allow us to measure our progress along the way.

We all have a role in this mission. Together, we’ll make ESG part of our DNA and consider everything we do through its lens.

In this report, you’ll learn more details about our ESG initiatives, who’s involved, where it came from, and what it looks like in guiding our day-to-day practices.

If you have questions or ideas on ESG, feel free to contact our SVP, ESG Manager, Mayte Muñoz at mmunoz@amerantbank.com.

For more information on Amerant’s ESG journey, visit our website at amerantbank.com/essg.
Amerant is dedicated to developing and sustaining strong relationships. We have a track record of innovation and responsiveness to dynamic circumstances. We believe we have demonstrated our ability to adapt to the evolving needs of the people and communities we serve. As we make ESG a part of everything we do, our risk management practices will evolve to include additional climate and social risk factors that will strengthen our ability to anticipate financial needs, respect diversity, and focus on inclusivity to positively transform lives for the better.

Amerant is the second-largest community bank headquartered in Florida. We serve the South Florida and greater Houston markets with $7.6 billion in assets and 24 banking centers. Also, we recently launched our new loan production office in Tampa, FL.
The beginning is a good place to start

Under the microscope

Our first task in developing a formal ESG program at Amerant was to get a full understanding of our environmental, social, and governance factors internally and at large. It was vital to know how our bank compared to others in our industry and in the wider worlds of the economy and community. We worked with a globally recognized consulting group to perform a materiality assessment.

Because the most successful companies align their products and operations within a sustainability framework, our task was to identify the importance, or materiality, of our current products, initiatives, operations, and priorities.

Official Definition of Materiality According to GRI (Global Reporting Initiative)

Material topics are topics that represent an organization’s most significant impacts on the economy, environment, and people, including impacts on their human rights.

GRI Standards:
GRI 3: Material Topics 2021

Identify ESG priorities

Conduct industry research, peer benchmarking and stakeholder engagement to identify Amerant’s priority ESG topics.

Identify and inventory current ESG initiatives

Conduct interviews and review documentation to understand current ESG initiatives in place and alignment to Amerant’s business strategy.

What’s up in the business world?

To identify potentially material ESG priorities for Amerant, we assessed ESG market trends in financial services and community banking and conducted a benchmarking exercise of material topics identified by other financial services firms in their ESG reporting.

We analyzed what’s happening in the economy, locally, nationally, and globally, seeking to understand how sustainability affects consumer habits and business performance.

The stakeholder engagement performed for our materiality assessment confirmed that Amerant is recognized as having reliable governance practices and a strong social approach. Amerant’s ESG strategy builds upon its strengths and channels efforts to the areas in which it could be stronger.
Informing all of these analyses were Amerant’s overarching strategy, goals, resource management, and transparency principles:

Strategy
- Long term value creation — Articulate the manner in which Amerant creates value for stakeholders and society.
- Product development — Update products and services to take into account risks and opportunities presented from ESG issues.
- Create new partnerships — Identify if Amerant could benefit from partnership with industry groups, NGOs, or other organizations for priority and emerging issues.

Goals
- Assess and update ESG goals — Develop goals for Amerant’s most material topics.

Resource Allocation
- Improve efficiency — More effectively align strategy and allocate resources to priority topics.

Environmental resource management
- Identify new and emerging issues — Consider Amerant’s management approach for new and emerging topics, including policy updates, goals and commitments.

Disclosures
- Enhance public disclosures — Develop external reporting on Amerant’s ESG performance.

The materiality matrix highlights what we identify as Amerant’s most material topics overall. Below, see the consolidated scores from stakeholders mapped against the Y-axis, and the consolidated scores from Amerant’s leadership team against the X-axis.

Stakeholder assessment
- We asked Amerant team members and those we serve what is important to them. We wanted to learn how they see our responsibility to them and to our communities. We conducted workshops, interviews, and surveys with Amerant’s stakeholders including its executive leadership, ESG team, investors, customers, vendors, and community members. This engagement helped us understand which topics are most material to Amerant’s business objectives and external stakeholders.

Committed to transformation

How things happen in an organization

We believe transformational change happens in an organization when people from the front lines, all the way to top management, agree on a vision of action and move toward it in unison.

We developed a plan of organizational changes which has been embraced across the organizational hierarchy, from our front-line workers to top management. The plan will promote buy-in and avoid stagnation in the process.

When top management wants to drive a change, but it doesn’t catch fire on the front lines, the effort can smolder and die.

True and profound change happens when everyone in the organization aligns with the vision and commits to the transformation.

That’s what we plan to accomplish at Amerant. How? With multi-level stakeholder involvement.

Amerant’s Board has direct oversight of the ESG program, as well as its integration into Amerant’s DNA. The Board is committed to include an ESG perspective in all business strategy decisions and to insuring our leadership compensation correlates with the ESG targets.

A closer look at oversight layers

ESG Governance Structure: Initiative execution layers

As you see from the table below of our organization, the Board of Directors and the Executive Leadership team have overall responsibility and accountability for ESG at Amerant. Team members at all levels of the organization are involved in planning and implementation toward goal achievement.
Our ESG Framework

We leverage the power of banking to create social and environmental value for our people, communities, and customers.

A strategic lens

Amerant’s ESG framework gives structure to our ESG efforts by cementing a vision, clarifying focus areas, and establishing high-level commitments.

The vision is simple: Corporate sustainability starts with our organization’s value system and a principles-based approach to doing business.

To this end, we have established goals and targets that are quantitative and time bound. We all know that having a clear view of what needs to be done helps a business hit its targets. That’s how we’ll achieve our long-term ESG commitments. We have set key performance indicators (KPIs) to measure progress internally towards each goal. Further, every initiative going forward will be studied through the strategic lens of our ESG commitments.

How will our activities and capabilities support achievement of Amerant’s ESG goals?

Our framework of five Pillars

Pillars that drive our aspirations:

- Empowering Our People for Shared Success
- Promoting Economic Mobility in Our Communities
- Building Climate Resilience

Pillars that are fundamental to the operation of our business:

- The Foundation of Everything We Do
- How We “Walk the Talk”

Through our ESG framework, we create value for our stakeholders and sustain our communities and environment.
The Foundation of Everything We Do

• Corporate Governance and Transparency.
• Board Diversity.
• Fair and Responsible Banking.

Destiny: Unlimited potential

A journey together
At Amerant, our customers and our communities are interwoven. Together they represent our destiny as a company. Our customers are people with unlimited potential. Our communities are constantly growing and developing. That’s why our products, our services, and our culture of service focus on helping people and our communities reach, and surpass, their potential.

The fundamental heart of our work is maintaining the highest level of integrity in everything we do. It’s what you’d expect of any business partner in whom you place your trust. Doing things right, and doing the right things are at the foundation of everything we do.

We operate with integrity, trust, and respect for each other while always seeking collaboration, candor, openness, and transparency.
Corporate Governance and Transparency

Core to Amerant’s commitment to integrity is our Board of Directors. It provides governance over the company’s affairs for the benefit of its shareholders while also minding the needs of its diverse constituents. The Board also has direct oversight of the ESG Program and receives ESG progress reports at least once per quarter. Customers, team members, the communities we serve, the public at large, and governmental entities that regulate the company’s business benefit from careful oversight by the Board.

Good faith, care, and loyalty

Directors are obligated to act in good faith and owe the bank a duty of care and duty of loyalty. In keeping with this, they are expected to exercise their business judgment in what they reasonably believe are the best interests of the Amerant and its shareholders.

The Board oversees compliance with safe and sound banking practices, ethical standards, and policies and practices. The Board is responsible for making sure that a risk governance framework that complies with regulatory requirements is established and implemented. Each Board member is expected to exercise sound independent judgment. The Board is required to actively oversee risk-taking activities and hold management accountable for adhering to the established risk governance framework.

In discharging their obligations, directors rely on the honesty, integrity and business experience of senior management, other company officers, outside advisors, and auditors. However, in practicing its duty of care, the Board thoroughly evaluates the recommendations and decisions of these various entities.

The Board establishes Amerant’s strategic direction and approves its annual financial and strategic business plans. Senior management, in turn, is responsible for developing the strategic plans for the company’s business and operations, and for presenting them to the Board for review and approval. The Board reviews these plans periodically with senior management to monitor performance and progress and to determine if revisions are warranted.

Further, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee enhances oversight in areas over which they have responsibility.

Board committees enhance oversight

The committees of the Board are the Audit, Compensation, Corporate Governance and Nominating, and Risk committees. These committees assist in oversight of the areas for which they have responsibility.

The Board strives to assure it is composed of effective leaders. Its members have an appropriate mix of skills, experience, and viewpoints. The annual evaluation of the Board, its committees, and the directors is one of the key tools the Board uses to achieve this commitment.

In this multi-phase process, the Board and each committee conduct their own evaluations. Each committee reports the results of its evaluation to the Board. These evaluations generally include an assessment of the Board’s and each committee’s structure and procedures, as well as an assessment of its overall effectiveness.

With an eye on 2022

A key objective for Amerant is to expand the racial, ethnic, and gender diversity of its Board of Directors to reflect the diversity of the communities it serves.
Reflecting the communities we serve

Our world is increasingly diverse. Our Board of Directors must reflect this diversity in gender, race, ethnicity, range of perspectives, and wide-ranging, substantial professional experience. Individual directors apply their unique and varied frames of reference to governance and operational decision-making. Such diversity is vital to effective, forward-thinking oversight of the company.

As of December 31, 2021, the Board was composed of nine Directors. Each has unique skills and backgrounds that complement those of the other Directors and provide the Board with additional points of view.

The average tenure of Directors was 16.5 years. Seven directors are independent under the standards developed by Nasdaq and included in our Corporate Governance Guidelines.

In preparation for the upcoming retirement of two directors and with a vision to evolve the diversity of the Board, our Directors appointed four new members during the March 2022 meeting. With this change, we now have one additional female director and two additional self-identified minority directors. We intend to continuously improve Board diversity and will report annually on our progress.

Demographics of Board of Directors

Fair and Responsible Banking

Being honest, transparent, and fair in how we market and communicate our products and services.

Protecting client interests and providing value

Amerant’s vision is to be a bank that clients recommend to their family and friends, a place filled with people they can trust, who have their best interests in mind. To fulfill that vision, we promise clients they’ll be treated in a manner that is equitable, transparent, fair, and consistent with consumer protection laws and regulations.

This culture defines how we operate. It starts at the top with the Board of Directors and Senior Management, who lead by example. Then, throughout the bank, adhering to the highest standards is the responsibility of every employee and is core to all business activities.

Amerant’s Corporate Compliance Program is overseen by the Chief Compliance Officer. We proactively manage our lending operations, practices, and service delivery. To maintain this strong compliance culture, team members are required to complete compliance course refreshers on an annual basis. The bank also conducts risk assessments and reviews to ensure the compliance program is regularly tested and validated.

Responsible Supply Chain

In 2013 the bank implemented a Vendor Management program to responsibly control costs, mitigate risks related to third party engagements, and to gain the greatest potential value from supplier relationships. In 2020, the program was revised, and efficiencies were incorporated into the processes involved.

With an eye on 2022

The evolution of the Vendor Management program continues and will be incorporated into Procurement best practices. The program will consider the following factors: supplier diversity, promotion of community businesses, social and environmental responsibility. Amerant will strive to address business needs with suppliers that share our ESG commitments, while delivering the goods and services required to operate the Bank.
Ethics, Compliance and Risk Management

We hold ourselves accountable to do what’s right. We measure ourselves against the highest standards of ethics, integrity and responsibility.

In both letter and spirit

We conduct business based on high standards of honesty, integrity and impartiality. Amerant is committed to doing what is right and deterring wrongdoing, and we expect all of our team members to uphold these beliefs as well. They are expected to provide fair and equal treatment in both letter and spirit. Not only because it is the law, but also because fair and responsible banking is a cornerstone of Amerant’s corporate values.

Amerant follows all fair and responsible banking regulations. We offer our products and services to qualified applicants without regard to race, sex, religion, color, national origin, age, marital status, familial status, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or any other basis prohibited by applicable law.

All products are reviewed by our compliance team to ensure alignment with applicable consumer protection laws and UDAAP, which regulates Unfair, Deceptive, or Abusive Acts or Practices.

Amerant’s commitment to lend fairly and responsibly helps drive the product life cycle, from product development, advertising, and marketing to training.

Our marketing efforts represent Amerant products and services fairly and truthfully and disclose the associated costs and fees with honesty and transparency.

Team members receive ongoing education on fair and responsible banking rules, regulations, and our internal fair housing and fair banking policies. We focus on an array of other diversity issues and practices and, knowing that we serve a general audience, work hard to make the language in our disclosures clear and understandable.

Our compliance posture and fair lending foundation are central to achieving our vision to be a bank that people value and trust.

The Amerant Code of Conduct and Ethics states that every Amerant team member must treat all customers fairly and consistently throughout the banking relationship, from account opening to account closing, and at all points in between. Team members receive training on and reacknowledge this code every year.

The Code of Conduct promotes:

- Honest and ethical conduct, including ethical handling of actual or apparent conflicts of interest between personal and professional relationships.
- Full, fair, accurate, timely, and understandable disclosure in all public communications, including reports and documents that we file with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).
- Compliance with all applicable laws, rules and regulations.
- Prompt internal reporting of violations of this Code, and protection of persons who report violations of this Code, violations of any law, rule or regulation, or any questionable accounting practice.
- Accountability on the part of all team members for adherence to this Code.

Reporting process for critical concerns

Team members are empowered to ask questions or report violations of the Code freely and without concern of retaliation.

We have an open-door practice that encourages colleagues to approach their division head, immediate supervisor, or Human Resources with ethical questions or concerns.

Suspected violations may also be reported to the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors or any of its members, the CEO, the Head of Internal Audit, or designated members of the Audit Committee directly at their private telephone numbers or personal email account addresses.

Amerant strives to create an environment where employees feel free to call attention to possible violations and will investigate reported concerns impartially. All complaints or suspected violations will be kept confidential to the extent possible to ensure a prompt and thorough investigation into concerns reported.

Importantly, Amerant complies with all laws that protect employees against unlawful discrimination or retaliation by anyone at the company because of lawfully, truthfully, and in good faith reporting or participating in investigations of allegations of corporate fraud or other violations of law by the company or its agents.
Risk Management: Our lines of defense

There are three lines of defense in this structure: The front-line units, risk management, and internal audit. Together, they establish an appropriate system to control risk-taking. They also ensure that the Board has enough information on the bank’s risk profile and risk management practices to critically discuss management’s recommendations and decisions.

Although all three of these groups should make sure that the Board is adequately informed, the Risk Management and Internal Audit units have unrestricted access to the Board to communicate risk assessments, findings, and recommendations, independent from front line unit management and, when necessary, the CEO.

With an eye on 2022
Recognizing that a fundamental element to any ESG strategy is identifying climate and social risks and managing those risks accordingly, Amerant is actively building the capacity needed to embed this perspective in its Enterprise Risk Management.
Customer Service and Satisfaction

Putting customers first: Making sure we offer top-level customer service, listen to customers, understand their needs, and adapt our operations to reduce pain points.

Using technology to transform service

A digital transformation

Disaster Relief and Recovery

A robust and proven plan to assure resilience in the face of challenge to our operations. Providing customers seamless and uninterrupted operations and services in an emergency.

When the unexpected happens

It might be a hurricane, or an internet failure. It might even be a pandemic.

Whatever happens, Amerant is prepared to be resilient in the face of a challenge to its continuing operations. Our comprehensive Business Continuity Program more than proved its worth when our business was forced to change practically overnight in March 2020 when COVID-19 swept the nation.

As soon as the World Health Organization declared COVID-19 a global pandemic, Amerant implemented components of the Business Continuity Management Program. We continued seamless and uninterrupted operations and services while keeping our team members, customers, and communities safe during this unprecedented event.

Amerant’s best-practice business continuity program meets all the requirements set by the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council (FFIEC). The program illustrates expertise and collaboration in action.

As the experience of COVID-19 demonstrated, there’s no substitute for having a superb situational management structure and documented methodology for business continuity.

Risk assessment and business impact analysis: Leaders and area managers identify risks that can negatively affect the bank’s assets or reputation and study how to address them.

Business continuity strategies: Resilient processes are designed to mitigate risks and to immediately restore critical functions if affected.

Plan development and implementation: Recovery plans, including technology recovery and resolution plans, are documented.

Training and exercise: Training, awareness, and periodic disaster recovery drills are implemented.

Program maintenance and incident response: A state of readiness is maintained, applying real-life and simulation experience to improve business resilience and the related business continuity strategies and plans on an ongoing basis.

Business Continuity - Board Oversight, Governance, and Compliance

Business Continuity Cycle

The Business Continuity life cycle is an ongoing process to assure a consistent, continuous, and effective approach to business continuity that reflects the current environment and supports stakeholder expectations and business objectives. The cycle looks like this:

- Risk assessment and business impact analysis: Leaders and area managers identify risks that can negatively affect the bank’s assets or reputation and study how to address them.
- Business continuity strategies: Resilient processes are designed to mitigate risks and to immediately restore critical functions if affected.
- Plan development and implementation: Recovery plans, including technology recovery and resolution plans, are documented.
- Training and exercise: Training, awareness, and periodic disaster recovery drills are implemented.
- Program maintenance and incident response: A state of readiness is maintained, applying real-life and simulation experience to improve business resilience and the related business continuity strategies and plans on an ongoing basis.

As the experience of COVID-19 demonstrated, there’s no substitute for having a superb situational management structure and documented methodology for business continuity.
Empowering our People for Shared Success

Organizations are defined by their people. And Amerant people have extraordinary ability. Operating through the pandemic taught us that it was our people, largely working in hybrid schedules or fully remote, who enabled us to operate smoothly and continuously to serve our customers and aid the community during an extended crisis.

With a team like this, it's imperative that we extend every opportunity to help them grow and learn and find personal and financial fulfillment. That's what this pillar is all about.

Building on a record of achievement

Amerant is well past the starting line in our effort to empower our people. Programs for the development and well-being of employees are long-established and will continue to expand as empowerment initiatives unfold. Here is a look at where we’ve been and what we’ve done so far.

People: A precious resource

We believe that listening to people from different backgrounds and cultures provides the diverse thinking needed to reach business goals. This isn’t just about "the numbers." It’s about who is at the table when decisions are made. It’s about making sure everyone’s voice is heard. And it’s about making sure we reflect the communities we serve. To walk the talk, we identified specific actions to promote inclusive behaviors amongst all team members. In one specific example, we are a 20-year champion of targeted development programs for underrepresented talent in partnership with the Center for Financial Training, a local chapter of the American Bankers Association.

To this end, we named a new Chief Diversity Officer, Kristy Amaro, and also formed a cross-functional diversity ambassador team. The new team created the compelling "I Belong" program to raise the profile of diversity and inclusion and encourage awareness organization-wide.

In another important action, we conducted an analysis of workforce data, identified underrepresented talent segments, and goals were set to close representation gaps.

"Amerant’s D&I objective is to build high-performing teams that are reflective of the diverse communities we serve."

– Jerry Plush

- Exploring actions such as developing career paths for all our team members, assessing potential expansions of our Family Leave policy, and implementing a permanent hybrid working schedule option for specific roles.
- Engage a third party to conduct a fair pay compensation assessment. This baseline will enable us to define metrics and targets for future improvement.

Learning and Development

Amerant team members are able to grow personally and build their careers through an array of learning and development programs. Understanding that all team members learn differently, we offer traditional classroom learning, virtual learning, “anytime” learning, mobile learning, social collaboration, and learning through games. We offer tuition reimbursement programs for higher education that provide access to a variety of degrees and certificates.

Growing our own local talent, inside and out

Skilled management at all levels helps an organization succeed. Last year, any team member with even a single direct report could attend a Transformational Leadership course. The program was custom-designed to meet the current needs of our leaders and to provide opportunities to transfer learning into tangible behaviors on the job. Some 118 Managers dedicated 12 hours of learning to develop skills to lead change and promote a talent-driven organization. Follow-up activities transfer learning into tangible behaviors on the job. Some 118 Managers dedicated 12 hours of learning to develop skills to lead change and promote a talent-driven organization. Follow-up activities reinforce learning retention and application on the job.

Building on our organization’s strong credit culture, a Credit Learning Curriculum was designed to reinforce learning retention and application on the job.

Developing future bankers

Amerant participates in TechHire, a job education grant program that helps young adults overcome barriers to employment by providing free job education. The program is a collaboration between The Center For Financial Training International, Miami Dade College, and the US Department of Labor. It prepares students for a paid, 300-hour internship in the financial services industry. The long-lasting connections made from the internship contribute to student success. Participants earn the Universal Banker Certificate from the American Bankers Association and take a Principles of Banking course before the internship begins.

Yet another program, the Future Bankers and Financial Professionals Camp, taps into the talent of high-achieving minority students from low-income areas and provides them a clear and promising career path in the financial services industry. In 2021, Amerant hosted four future bankers who worked on special assignments to help deepen their understanding of a Financial Institution.

Attracting, Retaining and Developing Talent

Our workforce is managed in alignment with business needs. We recruit the best people for career opportunities based on merit. This allows us to build a diverse and talented workforce that reflects the communities we serve.

Our competitive compensation combined with career growth and development opportunities have driven the average tenure of our workforce upward to approximately 10 years. We are a company with staying power.

In 2021, as headlines shouted about the difficulty of finding qualified talent, Amerant proactively launched an internship program in partnership with a local university. Six interns learned from team members at all levels of the organization and explored new business units. The result?

Four out of the six interns continued their career journey with us by working on special assignments and projects at the conclusion of their internships.

Competitive pay is more than just a paycheck

Our competitive total compensation and rewards program is aligned with our business objectives and the interests of our stakeholders. It is based on the fundamental principles of fairness, transparency, efficiency, and compliance with laws and regulations. Based on specific job positions and market conditions, the total rewards program combines fixed and variable compensation: base salary, short-term incentive, equity-based long-term incentive, and a broad range of benefits, including retirement contribution plans.

This compensation model encourages team members to contribute to achieving shared corporate objectives while also differentiating pay based on individual contributions.

With an eye on 2022

• In January of 2022, we introduced an Employee Stock Purchase Plan*. This program is a tangible way to “walk the talk” in empowering our people and sharing with them the success of our Company. With this win/win program, team members have an even more meaningful stake in helping Amerant grow and become more successful.

• Amerant’s set minimum wage standard increased to $18.00 an hour. This aligns with our commitment to attract, retain and develop the most qualified team members in the industry. We will evaluate the need to increase the minimum wage annually.

* Employee Stock Purchase Program is subject to shareholder approval in the 2022 Annual Meeting.
Driving the business while growing our people

Competency-Based Performance Model: good for people, good for business

Amerant applies a competency-based performance model built around its core organizational values. This empowers Amerant to stay abreast of the organization’s overall skill/ability so that strategy and planning can work toward future skills that may be needed.

What’s a competency?

On the move despite COVID-19

During the peak of the pandemic, when a majority of our team members worked remotely, their engagement and wellness were top priorities. Virtual wellness initiatives were implemented to bring everyone together in a safe and responsible way.

Health and wellness

Supporting our team members and their families

Amerant provides full- and part-time team members and their families with multiple options for a comprehensive benefits package. Our nationwide open-access health options allow in- and out-of-network services, depending on plan.

An employer-paid, in-network dental DMO plan and a robust, low-premium, in/out-of-network dental PPO plan give team members and their dependents access to preventive, basic, and major dental services. A cost-free vision plan enables team members to maintain an annual vision-check routine.

Amerant provides a cost-free group life and accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D) benefit. Employees can purchase additional supplemental coverage for themselves, dependent spouses, and dependent children. A pre-tax Flexible Spending Account (FSA) and a pre-tax Health Savings Account (HSA) help make health care more affordable. Both tools can reduce members’ out-of-pocket costs.

Free mental and behavioral health resources are available to team members and their dependents through the Employee Assistance Program (EAP). Team members also have the option to purchase supplemental income protection through short-term disability, accident, cancer, hospital indemnity, and critical care plans.

Financial freedom is a universal goal. We offer a retirement safe-harbor plan that includes a pre-tax 401(k) plan as well as a post-tax ROTH to help team members save for the future. An optional legal plan offers extensive legal assistance, advice, resources, and representation on all types of legal services.

Behind the hum of a bank’s daily operations, there is a complex infrastructure of regulation. Most customers don’t see it or think about it, but this regulatory framework assures that certain standards are met and that good faith is present in all of the bank’s relationships, large and small.

An important part of this framework is the Community Reinvestment Act, passed by Congress in 1977 to encourage financial institutions to help meet their communities’ needs through safe and sound lending practices and by providing retail banking and community development services to all sectors. Importantly, this includes serving residents of low- and moderate-income neighborhoods and making investments there.

Amerant has a long-standing commitment to serving a variety of individuals and neighborhoods. This includes funding community development loans and contributing to programs in underserved regions. These investments help revitalize designated neighborhoods throughout the communities we serve. We also embrace opportunities to actively participate in organizations that support affordable housing, economic development, and community service.

For more than two decades, Amerant has earned the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) overall Outstanding rating for our excellent Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) performance.

The OCC rates three test areas:

Lending – The extent and quality of community development lending practices that encourage financial institutions to help meet the credit needs of the communities in which they do business, especially economically disadvantaged areas, low- and moderate-income individuals, and small businesses.

Investment – The level of innovative and complex investment in and responsiveness to credit and community economic development needs, particularly those not routinely addressed by private investors.

Service – The convenience of access to branches and services, predominantly for low- to moderate-income individuals and areas, in addition to community development services, such as financial literacy, technical assistance to housing and development organizations.
A privilege and a responsibility

Affordable housing plays a vital role in building a strong workforce, yet, South Florida is among the nation’s most cost–burdened housing markets. In Miami-Dade County, Amerant has sponsored 12 home construction projects with Habitat for Humanity of Greater Miami to benefit deserving families. We made this happen even though COVID–19 prohibited Bank volunteers from participating on-site in 2020 and 2021.

Having strong relationships in the community helps us provide informed advocacy and share our expertise. We also learn from the experiences of others. In this spirit, Miguel Palacios, Head of Commercial Banking for Amerant, currently serves on the Board of Directors of Habitat for Humanity of Broward, and Robert Lopez, Head of Special Assets, sits on the Board of Habitat for Humanity of Greater Miami.

Knowledge is power

Knowing how to stick to a household budget, manage bills, use credit responsibly, and save for the future are key to greater financial security.

Amerant supports non-profit organizations throughout South Florida and the Greater Houston area who offer financial literacy education programs. Financial literacy promotes economic mobility and financial independence among diverse populations.

The Amerant Financial Education Center provides no-cost resources and tools to help individuals and small business owners locate and use financial services to achieve upward mobility. Resources on our website include information on topics such as money management, saving, investing, budgeting, and strategies to pay off debt. Also available on this website is the My Money Program. Through it, the Florida Department of Financial Services offers a comprehensive financial literacy program. It’s also a resource clearinghouse for individuals with developmental disabilities, their family members, and caregivers.

In Broward County, our CEO Jerry Plush joined other business leaders to participate in CEO Build 2021 to offer financial support and elbow grease on a Team Build Day. Amerant team members had the opportunity to work hands-on in serving their community.

In 2021, Amerant committed over $490,000* in charitable giving to non-profit organizations throughout South Florida and the Greater Houston area that support and promote affordable housing, economic mobility, health and social services, and financial independence among diverse populations.

Building up our communities

We helped customers navigate the pandemic

When COVID-19 struck, we took steps to mitigate the impact on our customers. At the onset of the pandemic, we temporarily eliminated Amerant ATM fees, waived late payment fees on business and consumer loans, and refrained from reporting negative information to credit bureaus for past-due loan balances held by Amerant, among other individualized account measures.

As the pandemic presented an unprecedented level of economic uncertainty, we closely monitored and managed credit risk, identifying and contacting our clients most susceptible to impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic.

This systematic and compassionate approach resulted in loan modifications that simultaneously contributed to managing Amerant’s portfolio risk.

Support for small businesses

Small businesses are the backbone of a community. The pandemic presented an unprecedented threat to the survival of small businesses, with a particular impact on minority-owned businesses.

To support small business owners and the communities we serve, Amerant began participating in the Small Business Administration’s Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) on April 2, 2020. Amerant built community goodwill as one of the few banks that helped small businesses who were non-customers acquire PPP loans. Many banks required PPP applicants to be existing customers, which created an impediment to receiving the help they needed. In the end, this open policy enabled Amerant to help more non-customers (1,811) than customers (1,004) with PPP loans.

All told, Amerant helped 2,815 customers acquire 3,808 PPP loans for a total of nearly $325 million in assistance.*

*A data as of February 28, 2022. Includes all SBA loans and PPP loans.

Amerant’s Microgrant Programs provided nearly $70,000 in funding to the neediest of small businesses in 2021.

Financial education, small business assistance, and community development are Amerant priorities. The bank has a robust record in all three, as seen here. The small business loan totals for 2020 and 2021 include those made through COVID-19 relief programs.

Building Climate Resilience

Toward a sustainable future

Living a commitment to sustainability takes many forms. Some efforts make headlines, others are more quiet. Principled decisions happen in business meetings, in actions on the job, and in choices made by individual people in their daily lives. They might provide a short-term win or, instead, add value over the long term. At Amerant, an array of such efforts are underway.

Green money

By offering environmentally conscious financing options and services, Amerant facilitates building climate resilience. Our financial solutions allow customers to future-proof their homes and businesses, realize cost savings, and create larger-scale positive environmental impacts for our communities.

Amerant is well-positioned to finance the transition costs associated with building a climate-proof future for the communities we serve.

In one example of this principled strategy, Amerant holds a participation amount of $20 million in a $500 million Syndicated ABL “Green” credit facility for a Miami-based coffee company. In this case, the credit facility terms are tied to sustainability-related Key Performance Indicators that are audited each year to assure compliance. When KPIs are hit, the loan account is discounted.

SNAPSHOT: 2022 TARGETS AND BEYOND

- Amerant product teams are researching creative ways to offer environmentally conscious direct and indirect financing and investment opportunities. We aspire to offer $1B of sustainable products by 2025 ranging from specially rated lending for sustainable home improvement to investment partnerships with sustainable service providers.
- Amerant recognizes that true change begins from the inside out and that the main driver of this change will be education that leads to self-awareness. Beginning the second quarter of 2022, environmental awareness curriculum will be delivered to all Amerant team members. Also, partnerships with local environmental groups will be nurtured to amplify this learning beyond our walls and into our communities.
- Amerant is tackling reduction of fossil fuel consumption in various ways while also devising a plan to convert to renewable energy as quickly as possible in all facilities where the option is available.
- To create a plan that will lead us to carbon-neutral operations by 2030, we must first clearly understand where we are today and inventory our emissions. In the second quarter of 2022, Amerant will begin the process of obtaining an accurate GHG inventory upon which additional reduction targets will be based.

Opportunities to contribute to a healthier environment

Sustainable and Innovative Solutions

Recognizing an opportunity to support sustainable construction practices, Amerant partnered with, and extended a loan to, Dakota Matting & Environmental Solutions, a local company and supplier of composite, timber and engineered mats. Dakota provides construction and heavy equipment mats (shown below) for temporary road access and ground protection to shield fragile root systems and reduces the environmental impact from potential chemical spill contaminants.

Customers invest in sustainability

In Amerant’s wealth management division, customers have an opportunity to select ESG as an investment objective or interest at the time they open their accounts.

Through Amerant’s partnership with digital wealth management technology firm Marstone, Inc., customers can vote with their dollar and incorporate their interests and beliefs into their investment portfolios. The Amerant Smart Investing platform currently allows for affirmative Exchange Traded Fund (ETF) selections in alternative energy, clean water, and social responsibility.

Let there be light

All new Amerant facility building projects, including our Coral Gables headquarters, follow new building codes that require 50% of outlets to have sensor controls and high-efficiency LED lighting in the interior and exterior. These enhancements help us save energy.

On the homefront: Inside Amerant spaces

Eco-friendly initiatives are transforming Amerant’s headquarters offices, operations center, and network of banking centers, while also increasing awareness of our ESG strategy among team members.

Some eco-friendly actions

- Four electric vehicle charging stations were installed in our headquarters and are used at no cost to Amerant team members, building tenants, and visiting customers. Additional car charging stations are planned at other locations, including our new operations center in 2022.
- Amerant recycled 414 pieces of electronic hardware in 2021 including laptops, desktop PCs, and phone equipment.
- Lunch areas and coffee break rooms have grown greener with paper coffee cups and napkins made from 100% recyclable material. Also, coffee cups are recyclable after use.
- Single Stream Recycling, which allows all types of materials to be placed in one container, was introduced in the Coral Gables headquarters and Doral Operations Center in Florida.
- Reduced water consumption by installing low-flow toilet equipment, low-flow sinks, and faucet aerators in our facilities.
- We dramatically reduced the use of printing paper by programming all printers to print on both sides as the default setting.
- Amerant partnered with Proud Source, a Certified B-Corp, to produce Amerant branded aluminum water bottles for all banking centers and offices. These bottles are designed to be reused and recycled.

Energy-minded investing

In November of 2021, Amerant purchased $3 million in bonds of a large, diversified energy holding company headquartered in Juno Beach, FL. The bonds are held in the proprietary portfolio of the Bank. The company generates, transmits, distributes, and sells power to retail and wholesale customers in North America. It has an ESG rating of 86/100 (per S&P Rating) which reflects best-in-class preparedness for disruptive forces in the industry.

With an eye on 2022

In April of 2022, TXU Energy presented Amerant with a Leadership in Renewable Energy certificate for the purchase of 100% Certified Wind Renewable Energy Credits for six of our Houston Banking Centers.
We ask stakeholders to tell it like it is

Walking the talk takes listening, hard listening, and paying attention to both accolades and concerns. It’s essential to know what our team members, customers, investors, and community partners say about how we’re doing.

Internally, an annual engagement survey takes the pulse of employee opinions and experiences, delving into both the work environment and management culture.

Externally, measuring customer satisfaction is a vital feedback link. The Net Promoter Score (NPS) is an index ranging from -100 to 100 that measures the willingness of customers to recommend a company’s products or services to others. Amerant created a dedicated unit to review this customer feedback. The goal is to identify areas of friction in customer service processes so they can be addressed and improved.

In the community, the presence of Amerant team members and executives in civic organizations and on philanthropic boards provides a valuable conduit for information sharing. Amerant is at the table and in the field to hear about needs and see them up close, enabling us to be responsive and strategic in our community engagement efforts.

We also seek to join the dialogue about transitioning our communities toward a more sustainable future. There is a wide continuum of opinion and advocacy in this endeavor, from conservation groups to real estate developers to governmental agencies. This presents the opportunity for representatives from Amerant to play a role in helping our communities achieve practical and ethical balance.

The many faces of reaching for a better world

As Amerant moves forward on its ESG journey, it does so as a leader in social responsibility who also has a voice in the financial industry at large.

Further, its commitment to climate resilience is evident in-house with its own operations and also in environmentally aware banking and lending practices. For example, see the photo on page 53 to learn how Amerant financing supports sustainable construction.

In the community

Amerant is a community leader in supporting programs, organizations, and activities that promote social responsibility. These efforts span from education to arts and culture to health and social services to economic development.

Close to home, Amerant’s work environment provides opportunities for personal growth, volunteerism, and community service. Each year, Amerant volunteers give hundreds of hours of their time and talent to benefit nonprofit community organizations and charitable causes that benefit people, neighborhoods, and local economies. We contributed nearly $750,000 in community giving in 2021.

Giving back to our local communities

Organizations that give back to our local community are at the core of the unique vitality and strength of the areas we serve. Amerant’s community partnerships allow us to walk hand-in-hand with those that help our communities flourish.

We are passionate about enhancing the well-being of our customers, team members, business associates and communities by efficiently using available resources to support organizations that shape and improve the quality of life in our local communities.

Amerant’s Microgrant Program

Branches Micro-business program provides life-changing opportunities for Miami’s small businesses, working families, and their children. The organization grants recipients a broad range of crucial support services to help them achieve financial wellness and increase opportunities for their economic mobility and wealth creation. Mary Ann Cruz, CRA Officer, currently serves as a Board Member of Branches.

LiftFund provides support and creates the means for Houston area small businesses, micro-enterprises, and nonprofit organizations to stabilize and become economically self-sufficient. Both of these partnerships are flourishing and as of the end of 2021, our microgrant programs have provided nearly $70,000 in funding to the neediest of small businesses.

In 2020 we created the Amerant Microgrant Program and partnered with designated community development financial institutions (CDFIs) in Houston and Miami-Dade County to provide funding support to local micro and small businesses that did not meet the prerequisites for COVID-19 relief loans.

In 2021 our programs with Branches and Lift fund not only continued to support small businesses but shifted to help sustain those businesses in the long-term throughout the pandemic.

Our leaders also lead in our communities

Amerant’s leadership serve as community advocates and subject matter experts on a wide variety of non-profit boards. They develop connections in the community, learn about specific unmet needs, and help develop strategies for closing gaps. Organizations they serve promote early childhood development, financial education, community health, affordable housing, help for small businesses, and more.

Art: an expression of community

Amerant partners with Camillus House to help provide humanitarian services to poor and homeless people in Miami-Dade County and southern Florida. Our support for the art therapy initiative at Camillus House provides a positive outlet for people who are homeless and formerly homeless to express emotion and build self-esteem through art. Amerant sponsors this initiative as well as public art exhibits featuring artwork by Camillus House clients.

David Boerger, Business Banking, currently serves as a member of the Camillus House Board of Directors.

Amerant celebrated our ongoing partnership with the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston in 2020 to launch the Amerant Latin American Gallery in the Museum’s newly opened Kinder Building. The 100,000-square-foot-plus exhibition space showcases artists from the Museum’s collections of Latin American and Latino art from the past century and the modern day. The exhibit includes photography, prints and drawings, decorative arts, craft, and design.

Amerant team members enthusiastically embrace an annual toy drive to collect gifts for the children served by Centro Mater Foundation, a 50-year-old nonprofit organization that provides early childhood education and social services to low-income families through five nationally accredited sites in Miami-Dade County. Team members across the organization collect toys and come together for Noche Super Buena when the children receive toys from Santa. “Noche Super Buena” embellishes on “Noche Buena,” a Christmas Eve tradition universally celebrated in Hispanic cultures. Matthew Bruno, Commercial and Industrial Banking, currently serves as a member of the Board of Directors at Centro Mater and has served as Board Chairman in recent years.
We ‘run the talk,’ and more, for children

Amerant supports Live Like Bella through its Superhero 5K to support children battling cancer. Historically, our team members volunteer to create the largest team at the annual event. In September 2021, we expanded our partnership to become Presenting Sponsor of the first-ever Live Like Bella Pediatric Cancer Symposium, bringing together researchers and doctors from across the state of Florida to advance childhood cancer research.

Voices for Children provides neglected children in Miami-Dade County with support in navigating the legal and social service processes and assists with financial, medical, and educational needs. Mariola Sanchez, Senior Vice President and General Counsel, brings her expertise and perspectives to Voices for Children as a member of its Board of Directors.

Early learning is vital to educational success beyond the formative years. Matthew Bruno, Commercial and Industrial Banking, currently serves as Chair for the Early Learning Coalition of Miami-Dade and Monroe. This non-profit organization aims to assure high-quality early education for children in Miami-Dade and Monroe counties. Their community-based collaborative approach includes voluntary pre-kindergarten and after-school programs designed to prepare every child for success in both school and life.

Saying ‘yes’ to unlimited potential

United Way Miami is the largest private funder of health and human services in Miami-Dade County. Amerant expanded our partnership with the United Way in September 2021 as Presenting Sponsor of the Women United lunch series. This effort brings together women who are passionate about making a difference in their communities. We also launched an internal fundraising initiative in October 2021 to help the United Way in its efforts to transform lives and build better futures, joining other employers who have payroll deduction programs to support United Way. Jerry Plush, Vice Chairman, President and CEO, currently serves as a member of the United Way Miami Board of Directors. Amerant was recognized by United Way Miami for having raised the most during a first-year campaign in their history.

So that all can have a breath of air

More than a million people in Florida suffer from Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Lung Disease (COPD). That’s just one condition that robs people of their ability to breathe, something most of us take for granted. Amerant is a long-time supporter of the American Lung Association, the leading organization working to save lives by improving lung health and preventing lung disease through research, education, and advocacy. Hernan Millan, Business Banking, currently serves as the Board Chairman for the American Lung Association of South Florida.
